WHY: West Valley City's Police and Fire Chiefs will make short 25-minute presentations about current issues and trends in the City. After their remarks, there will be a question and answer period. Police and Fire staff will also be onsite with displays to answer questions about home and community safety.

"This is an exciting opportunity for residents of West Valley City," stated Mayor Mike Winder. "These events help to increase communication between the residents of the City and those who provide essential emergency services in the City."

It is hoped that this event will be repeated again in August and that these events will become regularly scheduled annual meetings.

Residents are invited to submit questions and topics of interest prior to the event dates online. More information is available on the City website at www.wvc-ut.gov/chiefchat.
